"We have opened our doors every morning for 22 years and now our epi-taph can be written in these few words, 'talked to death,""

Mr. Walker said that the poor crop prospect and general depression of val-nes in consequence had scriously affected the banking interest throughout the entire west, but he expressed himself as of the opinion that the other banks in this city were in good shape to withstand

The general opinion seems to be that the blow will be very hard on Wichita. Many small merchants will be greatly embarrassed and the result cannot be estimated. The effect will be equally disastrous in the smaller towns in the southwest that had exchange deposited here. Some of these will be closed in consequence.
